After coffee upon arrival, our visit will start with a guided tour of the establishment. We can then wander at leisure through the various intriguing buildings and around the park, investigating in depth the fascinating history of the code breakers and the Enigma machine. We will see evidence of how people lived during the war, learn the harrowing stories of others who were captured or annihilated, see Alan Turing’s home and inspect a garage full of war time vehicles.

Please note that a hot or cold lunch can be purchased on site in one of the two cafes. If you prefer to bring a picnic, you are welcome to do so but it has to be eaten outdoors in the park grounds, where there are no outside seats.

Mobility: Please wear sensible walking shoes, as we shall be moving between buildings where there is some uneven ground.

Cancellation: Monies will only be refunded if someone else can replace you.
